Gift Buying Near Record High In City

Merchants Report Business Up as Much As 50 Per Cent as Shoppers Throng Stores In Unprecedented Numbers.

Mansfield stores were well on their way to a record holiday shopping season today as some retailers reported sales ranging up to 50 per cent ahead of previous record years.

While the greatest surge of shoppers gathered at the stores offering appliances, tools, metal goods and other items long scarce because of the war, even the establishments selling lines which have not been particularly short experienced a huge buying wave.

"There may be many factors entering into the increase in sales, but generally speaking it seems that everybody is out for a big Christmas. There are more goods, the veterans are back and everything appears to be contributing to one of our best years," one department store manager said.

Sales of "soft goods" such as wearing apparel, bedding and drapes and other pliable household furnishings are 10 to 20 per cent above the best previous years while appliances, tools and metal toys are moving at a rate 50 per cent greater than last year, a News-Journal survey indicated.

"The best year we've ever had" is the typical statement by store managers, including Wilbur Loomis, president and manager of Scattergood's, who said he could look back on 63 years of merchandising.

In the "hard goods" line, appliances ranging from refrigerators, radios and record players, power tools, metal toys and lamps and other furniture were selling like the proverbial hot cakes.

* * *

Can't Meet Demand.

"But we, for one, can't supply the demand. Sales in this line are so much higher percentage-wise simply because we had none at all during the last several years," Allen Slattery, assistant manager of the Montgomery Ward store, said.

W. J. Toole, manager of the Sears and Roebuck store, reported his company here would experience its biggest year exceeding sales volume in 1941, last previous top year.

V. H. Lodde, secretary of the Retail Merchants association, said he had no figures to report, but stated 1946 should be one of the best, if not the best, year for retailers.

"Last week was a very big week and yesterday was just as good. Today's weather will keep some of the shoppers away but not enough to slow the buying much," Lodde said.

Stay Open at Night.

In order to serve the thousands of shoppers many stores are considering staying open evenings for several days previous to Christmas.

The board of trustees of the RMA has recommended that stores remain open until 9 p. m. on Friday, Saturday and Monday, Dec. 20, 21, and 23, and close at the usual hour — 5:30 p. m. on Tuesday, Dec. 24, the day before Christmas.

Many of the stores plan to adhere to that recommendation.

May Wed Princess — Prince Philip of Greece, 25, who has requested British citizenship, is reported engaged to Britain's Princess Elizabeth in what British gossip writers are terming the "Royal Romance" of the year. BIG FOUR WILL GO TO MOSCOW

Western Diplomats Hopeful Molotov Will Change His Stand on Germany.

NEW YORK — (AP) — With the next Big Four foreign ministers conference slated for Moscow March 10, western diplomats expressed hope today that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov would quickly reverse himself and agree to get the views of small nations on Germany before the great powers start work on a German peace treaty.

In fact, if Molotov does not yield his opposition on this point by the end of the week it seems highly unlikely that the Moscow sessions will be held.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes told the foreign ministers council meeting last night he was flatly opposed to making any German decisions until the small nations have had opportunity to express their views.

Molotov said he would think the matter over.

Meanwhile, the council agreed to meet today to clean up odds and ends of the five European satellite peace treaties which are being completed here and possibly begin consideration of an agenda for the Moscow meeting.

In agreeing to hold the meeting in the Russian capital, Byrnes, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Deputy Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville were assured by Molotov that news reporters from their countries would be able to report freely what happens there.

Byrnes, who had discussed this problem in private with Molotov prior to last night's session, was quoted as having told the Soviet diplomat he felt the conference in Moscow last December was not well covered because of restrictions thrown around it.

CAUSE OF FIRE STILL UNKNOWN

ATLANTA, Ga. —(AP)— Definite cause of the devastating fire which took 120 lives in the Winecoff hotel Saturday may never be established, City Fire Marshal Harry Phillips told an investigating city council fire board last night.

But, he said, a drunken cigaret smoker may have started the fire Liquor bottles were strewn around many hotel rooms, he added.

So far the investigation has pointed to a charred mattress in a third floor hallway as the possible starting point, Phillips and Fire Chief C. C. Styron said.

Two occupants of the room nearest the mattress were found but told investigators they were asleep and were unable to tell anything of the blaze's origin.

Grand jury Foreman Henry Chandler said he would use information gleaned from scores of investigators for a grand jury inquiry today.

Meanwhile, 117 bodies have been identified. Three bodies of young women, charred and mutilated beyond recognition, remained nameless.

Of the 100 injured, 49 still are under treatment in Atlanta hospitals.

Mrs. Annie Lee Irwin, owner of the hotel, said it would be rebuilt "with every safety device required or recommended."

Her real estate agent said the hotel carried $425,000 insurance on building and furnishings.

CIO TO BARE WAGE DEMANDS

Union Prepares to Ask Fund Standardizing Pay Rates in Auto Industry.

NEW YORK—(AP)—An equalization fund to standardize rates of pay throughout the automotive industry, and social security and retirement clauses will be demanded—in addition to a basic wage increase—by the CIO United Automobile Workers in 1947 contract negotiations.

This was disclosed last night by union president Walter P. Reuther, who told newsmen after the opening session of the UAW's international executive board:

"We are not going to think of the equalization fund, the social security and the old age funds as 'fringe' increase. We are going to press just as hard for them as for anything else."

Announcement of the union's specific dollars-and-cents wage demands for 1947 "probably" will be made today, Reuther said.

It has been reported the wage demands likely would approximate $2 a day, an increase of 25 cents an hour. That would boost the average hourly wage from $1.30 to $1.55 and the daily pay from $10.40 to $12.40.

Reuther told the news conference he had discussed with Philip Murray, CIO president, the propriety of a UAW wage policy announcement at this time, and that Murray voiced no objection to the move.

Such an announcement would be the first for 1947 to come from one of the giant basic industry unions of the CIO. For several weeks the UAW, the steelworkers, and the united electrical radio and machine workers — the CIO's big three — have worked together to map a co-ordinated wage program.

Reuther said that program still was coordinated, adding, however, the UAW figure would not necessarily be that put forth by the other unions.

"Our demands will reflect the economics of our situation," he said. "Steel and the UE will make their own demands."

Reuther also declared that his union "will do everything possible to avoid strikes, but our willingness to meet the situation must be matched by an equal willingness on the part of industry."

FACES MURDER CHARGE

ATHENS—(AP)—Jewell Peters, 25-year-old Ohio university student-veteran, was charged today with first degree murder in the death of his wife, Leah Mae, 21. Details as to how she died were not disclosed.

DANDELIONS BLOOM ON MANSFIELD LAWNS

Mansfield was giving California a run for its money today as temperatures continued to range far above normal. Dandelions were blooming on some lawns in the city.

The low last night at Hayesville was 52, as compared to Los Angeles' 47, while the high yesterday here was 62, only six degrees below Los Angeles' high.

The forecast for tonight and tomorrow is continued cloudy with occasional rain—and the weatherman couldn't see a snowflake in sight.

Dr. Daniel A. Poling to Speak In Mansfield Thursday Night

Dr. Daniel A. Poling, internationally known Baptist minister, will speak at the First Presbyterian church Thursday at 8 p. m. Dr. Poling is being brought to Mansfield by the alumni of Christian Endeavor of Richland county.

The organization was able to obtain Dr Poling for the Thursday talk because he is en route to his home in Philadelphia after attending the dedicatory service of the new international headquarters of Christian Endeavor in Columbus.

Dr. Poling is president of the International Society of Christian Endeavor and World Union, editor of the Christian Herald and pastor of the Baptist Temple, Philadelphia.

Widely known for his writings as well as his ministry, Dr. Poling will speak at one of two such meetings being held in Ohio. Christian Endeavor members from surrounding counties are expected to attend the Thursday meeting.

Also present at the meeting will be Alvin Beeler of Berea, adult superintendent of the Ohio Christian Endeavor Union, and Harold Smith of Wooster, newly-elected state president.

DISARMAMENT DEBATE SET FOR RENEWAL

UN Sub-Committee Works Into Early Morning Drafting Details.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(UP) — The United Nations resumed debate over the world's armed forces today.

A sub-committee worked until past midnight drafting details of a new disarmament scheme to be debated today by the political and security subcommittee.

The general assembly prepared to debate at 4 p. m. the proposed UN troop census, particularly Russia's refusal to reveal the size of its home-based armies.

The political and security subcommittee agreed early today on the principle of UN members withdrawing simultaneously their forces from foreign soil, but details had yet to be worked out by the full committee. The delegates also have to settle a Soviet-British dispute over the rule of the veto in disarmament.

Take Slap at Spain.

The full political and security committee yesterday voted to ask all UN members to withdraw their ambassadors and ministers from Spain. This was a compromise short of an outright break in diplomatic relations which had been demanded by the more vitriolic anti-Franco forces.

The proposal to withdraw the ambassadors and ministers won by a 27 to 7 vote despite a warning by Hector David Castro of El Salvador that UN intervention in Spain would lead to civil war.

SENATE REPUBLICAN committee-on-committees meets in Washington to discuss allocation of the key posts among the 51 Republicans who will hold a majority in the 80th congress. SEASON OF GOOD CHEER NEARS

Colorful Holiday Lights Shine On Park Tonight

Delayed for three weeks because of the coal strike, the Christmas lights in Central park will be turned on tonight.

V. H. Lodde, secretary of the Retail Merchants' association, said that although not all the lights and decorations have been installed, the colorful holiday illumination will be on display this evening.

Meanwhile, Mansfield was returning to normal with all railroads back on pre-strike schedules and industries approaching capacity production.

The continued mild weather assured householders whose coal bins are low that their supplies will last until retail coal dealers can obtain plentiful supplies.

Tries Again to Buy Land

City Land Agent Neil S. Robinson said today he will draw an agreement with R. O. McFarland for the city for the purchase of 89 of some 200 acres of land owned by McFarland in the ClearFork reservoir area.

The agreement will then go to city council's special reservoir committee, which favors such an agreement two to one, and then it will go before council as a whole.

McFarland's land represents virtually the last acreage needed for the $1,000,000 Clear Fork reservoir project. Negotiations have been stymied for moths because of a disagreement among city officials and because McFarland refused to sell all 200 acres to the city.

A negotiation meeting last night between McFarland and city officials ended in a "draw," it was reported, and Robinson was instructed to make further efforts to close the deal.

* * *

Disagree on Acreage.

Some city officials insist that all of the land is needed until State Route 97 is relocated while others declare that buying all the land now is unnecessary and would tie up reservoir cash.

City Solicitor Leslie K. Wagner, who attended last night's meeting, said that "no action was accomplished," adding that "Robinson is ging to make further efforts to close the deal"

Robinson said the agreement he will draw with McFarland would permit McFarland to retain all land south of a proposed relocation of Route 97. Previously McFarland was reported to have wanted his land to extend halfway through the proposed route.

Meanwhile, Mayor Roy W Vaughn said that four bids for the clearing of the reservoir area, ranging from $73,800 to $8,944 were received by the city alnoon today.

Bald-Headed Men Called 'He-Manish'

CLEVELAND— (AP)—Baldness, says a bald-headed associate professor at Northwestern university, is an indication of more than average masculinity or "he-manism."

Dr. Herbert Rattener told the American Academy of Dermatology and syphilogy yesterday that although baldness had been attributed to many things, recent clinical study showed it was related to activity of the endocrine glands.

The teacher pointed out that loss of hair rarely occurred in women and children and never in eunuchs.

He said there was a possibility that the tendency was a generalized primate characteristic. Pictures were show with modern patterns of baldness evident in monkeys and other primates.

His concluding bit of advice: if you want to avoid baldness, choose your ancestors more carefully.

FAINT TAPPING SPURS RESCUERS

GLOBE, Ariz. —(U.P.)— Rescuers, spurred on by faint tapping sounds, dug feverishly today into tons of rock and dirt in the hope of saving a miner trapped for more than 62 hours in the Buckeye Copper mine.

The miner, John Orekar, was trapped Saturday when an earth slide blocked the mine tunnel. Ten other miners near the entrance escaped.

Another miner, John York, 52, was saved after rescue squads dug for 25 hours through debris at the tunnel entrance.

The rescue squads, joined by the 10 miners who fled to safety, dug on in the hope that Orekar was trapped by the slide instead of buried beneath it.

TEACHER WALKOUT ENTERS THIRD WEEK

ST. PAUL, Minn. — (INS) — The strike of St. Paul public school teachers was in its third week today, after the city charter commission indicated opposition to a 63 per cent increase in the annual school budget.

The teachers joint council declared the strike of 1,165 instructors who are picketing 77 St Paul schools will continue.

The charter commission members contended that the proposed amendment would be defeated by the voters because it would be too costly. They asserted it might mean a property tax increase of more than 66 per cent.

BACKS SCHOLARSHIP

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers announced last night that memorial scholarships for Ohio high school seniors aspiring to become teachers would be made available next spring.

STEEL DOOR CHECKS 13TH FLOOR BLAZE

NEW YORK — (INS) — A raging fire in a thirteenth floor room of the Hotel Lincoln, near Times Square, was extinguished quickly today after seven hundred guests were routed from their rooms as a precaution.

The blaze wrecked the room, and its furnishings, but it failed to break through the steel door and spread to adjoining rooms on the floor.

Santa's Bulging Sack of Toys Setting All-Time Cost Record

(By United Press)

An overburdened Santa Claus will place more toys beneath the nation's Christmas trees this year than ever before.

Department stores in scores of cities reported that the purchase of toys has reached a record volume, with everything in demand from paint boxes to electric trains and tricycles.

Prices, too, have soared to an all-time high. Toy prices have jumped more than prices for almost any other line of goods. The price of wagons, bicycles and roller skates, made of metal and available for the first time since the war, are particularly high.

A Birmingham, Ala., department store Santa Claus reported that every child wanted a tricycle and an electric train (both in exceedingly short supply.)

Dolls, as ever, are popular, and the supply is not nearly enough to match the demand. Manufacturers reported a shortage of doll wigs and eyes, and most dolls available were in the higher price brackets.

One large Kansas City, Mo., department store advertised the sale of "doll bonds" for Christmas, to be redeemed for a doll when they become more plentiful.

Boston retailers predicted a 100 per cent increase in spending on toys and said customers complained that last year's toys were of poor quality and did not last out the year.

Pittsburgh retailers said their greatest demand was for sleds, metal dishes, "magic-skin" rubber dolls, wagons and trains.

War-inspired toys sold well in some sections and lagged in others, apparently depending on the tastes of the parents.

Toys offered by manufacturers indicated many youngsters would be introduced to such awe-inspiring items as games involving radar, electronics and atomic bombs.

2 COLUMBIANS CONFESS PART IN FLOGGINGS

Statements Implicate Group in Scheme to Take Over U. S. Government.

ATLANTA, Ga.—(U.P.)—Georgia Attorney General Eugene Cook today announced confessions by two members of the Columbians, Inc., which implicated the organization in a Hitler-like scheme to take over the government of the United States.

The confessions were made in New York City Dec. 3 and 4 Prof. James H. Sheldon, administrative chairman of the non-sectarian anti-Nazi league, Cook said.

The Georgia official, who has been waging a legal battle to stamp out the order that rose up in Atlanta to fight Negroes and Jews, called in newsmen and showed them the confessions. They were signed by James Ralph Childers, 18-year-old wearer of the society's "badge of honor" for his part in the alleged flogging of a Negro, and Lanier Waller, 21.

The confessions also implicated leaders of the Columbians in plots to dynamite and burn Negro houses. They told of orders being given to administer floggings to Ralph McGill, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, and to Dank Duke, fiery assistant prosecutor in Cook's office who flattened Columbian President Emory Burke a few weeks ago in an Atlanta courtroom with a right to the jaw.

The confessions were notarized and incorporated by Cook into an official report to Gov. Ellis Arnall. This made the documents privileged material.

Sheldon, slender and scholarly-looking, and two of his investigators from the anti-Nazi league, attended the morning press conference in Cook's office. They have been working quietly with Duke on a widespread probe of the Columbians.

Cook said the Fulton (Atlanta) county superior court grand jury would be asked for additional indictments against Burke and Secretary-Founder Homer L. Loomis, jr., as a result of the confessions by Childers and Waller. Both are already under indictment on charges of usurping police authority.

BOTH PARTIES FAVOR LABOR LAW CHANGES

Lewis' Threat of Walkout on March 31 Sets Deadline For Control Action.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman turned today to Clark M. Clifford, his youthful special counsel in a search for labor law revisions aimed at forestalling future economy-strangling strikes.

Specifically, the chief executive was said to want written into law "a clear concept of labor's responsibility to the people and the government."

Mr. Truman assigned Clifford to the task of coordinating information and recommendations coming into the White House from virtually every federal agency as well as from wide segments of industry and labor.

Officials familiar with his assignment said he was carrying the major load of the preliminary work on Mr. Truman's "state of the union" message to be submitted to the new Republican-controlled congress.

* * *

Lawmakers Agree.

That his message will be received with some measure of interest is shown by the fact that lawmakers of both parties today set March 31 as the deadline for labor control measures aimed at staving off a possible new coal strike at that time.

Republicans and Democrats alike said John L. Lewis' order sending his miners back to the pits until April 1 puts pressure on congress to act swiftly if it is to find a solution for disputes in such essential industries as coal, steel, oil and transportation.

Democratic legislators generally indicated they would wait for the White House proposals before taking any action on their own, although they differed about the course they prefer the chief executive to take.

Favor Arbitration.

Republican leaders on the other hand reported strong sentiment already taking shape within their party for a compulsory arbitration law that would forbid strikes in any dispute affecting the public welfare.

A bill providing for this has been whipped into shape for speedy introduction in the new congress, one top GOP lawmaker declared.

The arbitration bill would set up machinery for rapid federal intervention to prevent a shutdown affecting utilities, transportation or commodities "essential to public health or safety."

With coal output gradually returning to its normal figure of 2,200,000 tons a day, there were these hangovers from the 17-day bituminous shutdown:

1. The supreme court not only agreed to step into the Lewis case itself but decided to rule as well on another background issue in the coal dispute—the unionization of foremen. That court yesterday set Jan. 14 for arguments on Lewis' appeal.

2. Lewis' attorneys began preparing their defense against a Virginia state corporation commission charge that the UMW violated the state's "blue sky" law through the "sale" of union memberships.

3. The government economists speculated that it might take two months or longer for production to bounce back to pre-strike levels.

ATTACK VICTIM SERIOUSLY HURT

Arlie Esterline, of Bucyrus, was in White Cross hospital at Columbus today for examination of head injuries received when he was reportedly slugged Friday night on West Fourth street, police said.

He was taken to the Columbus hospital yesterday.

Mansfield police said he was treated at General hospital Friday night for a "bump on the head." Saturday he was fined $5 and costs in municipal court on an intoxication charge and released.

Yesterday, according to Police Chief Meade K. Bates, Esterline became delirious and was rushed to the Columbus institution for examination by specialists there. He had been rooming in a house at Arch and South Main streets.

Investigation shows, Bates added, that Esterline became involved in an argument Friday night at a West Fourth street cafe, was struck by a man, fell and his head hit a cement step.

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—Dan Tobin, the president of the Teamsters' union, is 76-years old and will be pushed out of his job in a revolution of young Turks. The only aspirant for his place is Dave Beck, of Seattle, a dictator in his own jurisdiction which includes the entire Pacific coast. Beck entered the situation as Tobin's protege and, for ten years, has ruled not only the teamsters but much of the interstate and intrastate commerce of California, Washington and Oregon. He began by personal appointment as Tobin's representative. Beck is an alert, highly intelligent, aggressive professional unioneer who hates Communists and takes and deserves, credit for a successful fight in that area to confine Harry Bridges to the waterfront, resisting Bridges' efforts to shove his influence inshore.

To call him a professional unioneer is simply to acknowledge that here is a relatively young man, in his fifties, who, like Tom Dewey in government, has made a, profession of his occupation, studying the history of the labor movement and developing his strength progressively, year after year. His power is such that, with a word from Seattle, he was able to call off the general strike in Oakland last week at an alarming moment when, otherwise, a local, or wider, civil war might have occurred. However, he could start a civil war just as easily under our laws. Although he is much more intelligent and efficient than Tobin and has none of the old man's vanity, he is not, necessarily, a more desirable man from the standpoint of the whole public. He undoubtedly would clean out, however, many of the stupid old local and regional bosses of Tobin's political organization within the teamsters and organize an entirely new administration.

BECK ALSO is now the most likely candidate for the presidency of the entire American Federation of Labor but not necessarily as the immediate successor to William Green, who is 78-years old and weary of the painful personal strife which moved John L. Lewis to write last year that there actually was no labor movement in the United States but a confusion of bitter rivalries. To be elected president of the A. F. of L. a candidate must go to the convention with a strong union and a big block of delegates behind him and the teamsters are one of the big ones. Matt Woll, of the Photo Engravers, for example is a landmark, who in some political circumstances, might be taken as a compromise candidate as the Republicans selected Alf Landon, from Kansas, a small state, in 1936. But ordinarily a small union, such as the Photo Engravers, could not elect its man. Woll wouldn't take the job, even as a compromise man, however, for he is 67-years old, himself, and enjoys a prosperous and comfortable life in the role of executive and dignitary, with an insurance business as a sideline. No other field offers greater opportunities to young men than unionism in the A. F. of L.

Until Lewis jeopardized his own power with the current coal strike and drew down upon his union and himself the fines and the spectacular denunciation pronounced by Judge T. Alan Goldsborough, a scheme had existed whereby Lewis was to persuade Green to resign as president of the A. F of L. and contrive the appointment of William L. Hutcheson, the president of the Carpenters, another of the big A. F. of L. unions, to serve the unexpired portion of Green's term.

Lippmann — Today and Tomorrow

IN THE COURSE of 27 years John L. Lewis has gone a long way in disrespect and contempt for the law. The contrast between his behavior in 1919 and 1946 is a striking exhibit of the change in his attitude.

In 1919, as now, he called a coal strike in spite of the fact that the wartime food and fuel control act prohibited any restriction on the output of coal.

The Wilson administration went to the Federal Courts, and Judge Anderson issued an injunction against the strike. The miners defied the first injunction, and Judge Anderson issued a second forbidding Mr. Lewis and some 60 union leaders from communicating with the strikers.

Three days later Mr. Lewis went into Judge Anderson's court and submitted a paper to the judge which said that "in obedience to the mandate" of the court, the strike order was "withdrawn and canceled."

Mr. Lewis made a statement to the press which read: "We will comply with the mandate of the court. We do it under protest. We are Americans. We cannot fight our government. That is all."

Compare his conduct then with his conduct now. This time the strike order is not "canceled and withdrawn." It is suspended "until 12 o'clock midnight, March 31, 1947." Nor is it suspended "in obedience to the mandate of the court." This time Mr. Lewis not only ignored the court by announcing his decision solely to the press, but he insulted the court by describing its order as "the administration's 'yellow dog' injunction."

Then Mr. Lewis went on to explain why he had decided to suspend the strike until 12 o'clock midnight, March 31, 1947. It is because the Supreme Court of the United States should be "free from public pressure superinduced by the hysteria and frenzy of an economic crisis."

This would be bad enough if it meant only that in Mr. Lewis' opinion the Supreme Court cannot be trusted to administer the law and will render opinions under outside pressure. But the calendar of events which immediately preceded these remarks on the Supreme Court have to be taken into account.

* * *

ON WEDNESDAY the District Court fined Mr. Lewis personally and also the union. On Thursday Mr. Lewis and the union filed an appeal in the Circuit Court. On Friday the government moved to carry the case directly to the Supreme Court, and the chief justice had a conference with the government attorneys and Mr. Lewis' attorneys.

On Saturday, immediately following this conference, Mr. Lewis suspended the strike until the end of March, giving as his reason that the Supreme Court should not be under pressure in order that it might be "the protector of American liberties and the rightful ful privileges of individual citizens."

This carries with it the suggestion that Mr. Lewis' attorneys came back from the conference with the chief justice and advised Mr Lewis that if he suspended the strike, he would get a different judgment from the court than if he continued the strike. Let us hope that was only the gratuitous belief of Mr. Lewis' attorneys, and that he does not think, and was not intending to have anyone else think, that he had negotiated a compromise with the chief justice.

Mr. Lewis has ignored and insulted the District Court, has cast aspersion upon the judicial integrity of the Supreme Court, has paid no attention to the act of Congress under which the government is in possession of the mines, has paid no attention to his contract with the government.

This is not the behavior of a law abiding citizen. It is the behavior of an independent potentate who may yield, when compelled, to superior power but does so not because he respects the law.

The demonstration is complete and conclusive that John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers have too much power, and that the reduction of their power is essential if respect for law is to be restored and the public interest upheld.

Foremen Told Nation Must Get Back to Thrift, Initiative of Forefathers.

By ART ANDERSON

More than 200 members of the Mansfield-Shelby Foremen's club heard Glen Massman, executive vice president of the Dayton Foremen's club, urge a return to the "philosophy of personal initiative, thrift, and ability to keep America great" in a talk last night at the First Church of Christ in Ashland.

The meeting marked the club's annual "Ashland Night."

"America became great because the early settlers lived by a philosophy of personal initiative, thrift and ability," Massman said.

He compared this with what he termed the "dangerous philosophy of maturity, and planned economy that we have developed in the past 14 years.

"The government had control of everything except the situation," he said.

"The labor leaders are doing the things which we have set up for them to do by our lethargy and complacency," he said.

'Fight Must Go On.'

"We must keep on fighting to keep America great," he cautioned, adding that those who fought to establish this system will fight to prevent it from being destroyed.

Labor and management must meet on common ground for an association of ideas, he urged.

Asserting that the initiative of the nation has been destroyed by the lack of the merit system, he said "we must return to placing emphasis on the value of the individual."

"Another dangerous factor is that all of the youth of the nation in elementary and high schools today have never known anything but the present philosophy of planned oconomy," he said.

He advocated a return to the old-fashioned method of raising children.

"Teach them discipline and the value of things," he urged. "Too many of our youth today have never learned the value of things earned, or been taught to face the vicissitudes of life, which their parents learned in the school of hard knocks.

"The responsibility for much of this lies in parents either openly or secretly feeling that 'I don't want you to have to go through what I did.'

"Much has been said about juvenile delinquency arising in the slums, but it is my opinion that much of it also comes from our better-type homes."

The speaker was introduced by Harry W. Dailey, president of the Foremen's club.

Arrangements for the meeting were made by Richard Tharp, Ashland member of the club.

Dinner music was furnished by Jean Brandt, vocalist, and Robert Soka, Carl Stuber and Leo Jones, instrumentalists.

Santa Claus Takes to Air to Make Quick Trip To City to Hear Kiddies' Gift Requests

Excited Boys, Girls Crowd Around His Airplane

By NITA BRANSON

Hundreds of happy children and their almost equally excited parents saw Santa Claus glide to earth in an airplane yesterday at the Mansfield airport from his headquarters at the North Pole.

It was a rush visit and one which Santa had not been too sure he could manage.

When Jack Miller, manager of O'Neil's, and host for the Old Gentleman, called him at his North Pole home, Santa hemmed and hawed quite a while.

"Hmmm! Well, now Jack," he said, "I'd sure like to accommodate you but this is our busy season up here. I just don't see how I can manage it."

"Aw, but Santa," Manager Miller pleaded. "This is a very special favor. Some of our youngsters down here in Mansfield have never seen Santa and we'd sure like to do something about that situation. Can't you — er — well, leave your helpers up there to finish up the Christmas toys?"

"Well, now, Jack, since you mention it, maybe I can—maybe I can."

And that's just what Santa did and that's why he was able to land at Mansfield airport yesterday afternoon. Of course having an airplane helped a lot! If he'd still have his old reindeer and sleigh, he never could have made it.

As his plane, tipped with red and green lights, circled the airport, Santa waved down to the eager small heads, craned upward for a first glimpse of old St. Nick.

Kiddies Crowd Around.

Finally, the plane landed on the runway and taxied up to the parking lot, as hundreds of boys and girls converged in a throng around his plane.

First to reach him was Patrick Michael O'Brien, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. O'Brien, 511 Westview boulevard.

Right behind Patrick were Jean Kirtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R J. Kirtz, Lexington, R. D. 1; Sharon and Diana Scott, small daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Scott, of 478 Hammond avenue; Judith, Mary Jo, Ronald and Barbara DeCappio, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew DeCappio live at 410 St. Clair street. Pushing close on the heels of these eight were Lenora and Myrna Minock, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Minock, Mansfield, R. D. 6.

It was a moment never to be forgotten, as Santa leaned out of his plane, shook hands all around and smiled his merry, red-cheeked smile.

When he got out of the plane and began walking toward his car, he could scarcely walk for crowding children, pushed forward by their parents so they might have a chance to shake Santa's hand.

Over Too Soon.

As far as the children were concerned, it was all over much too quickly. But they'll have a chance to see him every day from now until Christmas at O'Neil's store.

At the North Pole, the helpers Santa left behind are working day and night, putting the final touches on the toys and books and dolls and things ordered for those Christmas eve stockings!

"HERE COMES SANTA!"—That's what hundreds of excited children shouted at the Mansfield airport yesterday when the plane bearing Old St. Nick circled the port for a landing. Santa Claus had been persuaded to make the trip to Mansfield by O'Neil's, the city's newest department store. A few of the 500 or more children on hand to see him are shown as they crowded around to shake his hand and tell him their Christmas wishes.—(Photo by Fotocraft)

Vandals Exhaust Driver's Patience

Vandals have given Harvey C. Greer's new club coupe a hard way to go.

First they scratched the top with a sharp instrument, probably a screw driver, Greer told police. Then, a few days later, they put gravel and sticks in the gas tank

His patience at an end when they twisted the car's radio aerial out of shape. Greer finally called police and asked them to keep an eye out for suspects. Greer's home is in Butler, but he's currently rooming at 117 North Weldon avenue.

Up and Down The Street

BOUQUET FOR 'MAC'—

When Mansfield gets around to passing out laurel wreaths for community service, "Mac," the bus driver who guides the travels of school pupils on the 7:40 bus out from town should get a big one. Most of his passengers go to Johnny Appleseed junior high. They consider "Mac" as quite a man and tell him their school problems as well as their jokes. Mac, good-natured and hearty, watches over them as conscientiously as if they were his own youngsters, and laughs at all their tricks like some fond relative.

TALK RECALLED—

Awarding of the Nobel peace prize to Dr. John R Mott, 81, today recalled to Roger Gray, Mansfield business man a talk which Dr. Mott gave at the YMCA convention in Atlantic City last summer. Dr. Mott, having crossed the Atlantic ocean 103 times, decided to try air travel. "I don't like it," he told his audience, Gray recalls, "but I'll take that way because it helps me in my work." Since then, Dr. Mott has taken two other Atlantic trips by air.

KILL 498 FOXES—

The claiming of 11 fox bounties by four hunters yesterday brought to 498 the number of the sly animals killed in the county during the past year. They netted $1,494 in bounties County commissioners originally set up a $600 appropriation to pay for the bounties. Before the year was half over the $600 had been used. Another $600 appropriation was soon exhausted and now a $300 supplementary amount is nearly expended.

Recently the commissioners appropriated another $150 in order to pay for the bounties until the expiration of the authorizing law in March. Latest hunters to claim the bounties are Dwight Forbes, Bellville, R. D. 2, for two red foxes, Elmer Peyton, Mansfield, R. D. 3, for one red fox, Stanley Bracken, Ashland, R. D. 4, for seven red foxes, and H. A. Bliss jr, Shelby, for one red fox.

OTHERS HAVE PROBLEMS—

Mansfield isn't the only city with acute traffic "pains." So says W. W. Boals, ex-Mansfielder, currently making a trailer trip through the west and southwest sections of the country. Boals, brother of Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals, says that Los Angeles is the worst city he's been in so far, from a tangled-traffic viewpoint. In that city "one really risks his life every day, whether he walks or drives" Boals writes. "The next worst city is San Antonio, Texas," where Boals says he is living now. Drivers there, he writes, "have no regard what ever for the rights of others. They pull out from the curb without looking, dash from a side street with a stop sign on it, and make left hand turns at traffic lights by forcing through traffic to stop." It's quite evident, Boals says, that "all the bad driving isn't in Mansfield."

Death Claims City Resident

Mrs. Mary Warren Hautzenroeder, widow of Charles Hautzenroeder, died at the Mansfield General hospital Monday at 7:10 p. m., following a brief illness.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Samuel U. J. Peard at the Finefrock funeral home Thursday at 4 p m The body will then be taken to Philadelphia, Pa., for burial. Friends may call at the funeral home here.

$450,000,000 INCOME SEEN NEXT 2 YEARS

State Surplus Grows Bigger as Taxes Bring Record Amounts to Treasury.

COLUMBUS — (UP) — A surplus of one hundred million dollars and general revenue likely to reach $450,000,000—that's the fat purse the state legislature will have available to spend in the next two post-war boom years.

The state solons will have about $78.57 to appropriate or leave in the state treasury for each of the seven million residents of Ohio.

Herbert D. Defenbacher, state finance director, estimated today that the treasury surplus will be $100,000,000 when the legislature meets in regular session Jan. 6.

However, the surplus does not include some $60,000,000 (M) remaining in the additions and betterments fund appropriated in 1945. The fund will be carried over as a specifically earmarked expenditure.

Many state officials have indicated belief that the general revenue receipts in the 1947-48 biennium will match or exceed the estimated $450,000,000 which will be collected by the end of December for the preceding two years.

Figures from the state treasurer's department show general revenue receipts in 1945 totaled $203,467,589 and had reached $231,819,014 so far this year. On the basis of present collections, general revenue for the two years will exceed $450,000,000.

In setting up the budget for the present administration, the state finance department estimated that only $331,331,664 would be taken into the general revenue fund and available for appropriation by the legislature along with the $92,000,000 surplus from the Bricker administration.

The state actually received over $883,000,000 from all sources from Jan. 1, 1945 to Nov. 30, 1946 but only general revenue funds are available for appropriation by the legislature, other receipts being specifically earmarked for certain purposes.

Defenbacher, who serves at the pleasure of the governor and "hasn't heard any word" from the new governor-elect, has not made an official estimate of the amount of general revenue the state will collect in the next two years.

Predicts Higher Income.

He believes, however, that revenues in 1947 will top previous highs. The big question is how long the inflated revenue period will continue, he said.

One of the first jobs of the new legislature will be to pass a partial appropriations bill to pay the salaries of state employes and continue state maintenance and subsidies. In 1945 the partial bill totaled $83,838,283.

The bill, drawn by the finance director and usually effective for the first six months of the year, must be passed by Jan. 14—eight days after the legislature meets—if state employes are to be paid.

Work has not yet begun on the partial appropriations bill, Defenbacher said. Governor - elect Thomas J. Herbert stated that he had not considered reappointing Defenbacher since he had not reached that point on a list of offices to be filled.

A revised statement today showed that the 96th General Assembly appropriated a record-breaking $531,875,433 in the 1945 six-month regular session and special sessions this year.

ONE PERFECT CAGE RECORD TO FALL TONIGHT

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

FOOTBALL Writers' association of America is the latest group to come up with a 1946 All-America team. . . . The grid scribes, more than 300 strong, picked a team for Look magazine which has the same backfield but a somewhat different forward wall from the other selectors. . . . Familiar front line faces are that dream backfield of Glenn Davis and Felix Blanchard, Army; Charlie Trippi, Georgia, and Johnny Lujack, Notre Dame. . . . Only other unanimous choice has been Burr Baldwin, UCLA's great 190-pound wingman.

Surprise selection was Warren Amling, Ohio State captain, at a guard position. . . . Amling has been awarded several first team tackle berths but it is the initial time this season that he has been picked for guard. . . . Amling made all of the honor teams at guard in 1945 but was shifted to tackle this spring and has been playing there ever since.

Remainder of the No. 1 aggregation has Hubert Bechtol, Texas, end; George Savitsky, Penn, and Dick Huffman, Tennessee, tackles; Weldon Humble, Rice, guard, and George Strohmeyer, Notre Dame, center. . . . Arnold Tucker, West Point, again ended up on the second team which no doubt proves that the top grid writers also watch the ball-carrier more than the guys up front who make long runs possible by top-flight blocking and ball-handling. . . . Tucker is still the lad that made the Black Knights go.

Bonus limits passed last week in the majors-minors meeting at Los Angeles are a boost to football, college and professional. . . . Under the new rules, a major league club can't afford to pay a player more than $6,000 unless they feel sure he's a big leaguer from the start and football both pro and amateur can meet that price. . . . As one pro coach remarked, "We can't meet the salaries that some colleges give their players).

Lindy Wighton, Oberlin, has heated the nets for a total of 124 points in four high school games. . . . That's an average of 31 per.

Johnny Appleseed Plays At Savannah High Today

Johnny Appleseed junior high cagers will be seeking their second consecutive win against Savannah this afternoon at Savannah.

Coach Norm Henline took 12 players to Savannah and said his starting lineup would be: Jim Rubino and Charlie Marchant, forwards, Howard Tipper, center; and Jim Anderson and Jack Bargahuser, guards.

THREE WINS CREDITED TO BELLEVUE 5

Mansfield Victorious In Its Only Contest.

One perfect record is sure to bite the dust tonight when the Mansfield Tygers meet the Bellevue Redmen on the latter team's hardwood.

Coach Vern Hoffman's Bengal basketeers copped their lone start last Friday while Bellevue has taken three scalps in as many starts. Mansfield toppled Wapakoneta, 32 to 23, and rates an even choice against the upstate quintet.

Mansfield has looked mighty sharp in scrimmage sessions against alumni groups but was ragged in the ball-handling department in the Wapak encounter. It took the Tygers three quarters to gain their poise and the fourth period was all Mansfield. The Tygers outscored Wapak 10 to 2 in the final stanza.

Hoffman was still undecided on his starting lineup this morning. Olhe Cline and Nick Gagich, guards, and Ralph Majors, forward, were sure starters. Tom Bloor, who looked good in a substitute's role Friday, and Jerry Robfogel are possibilities for the other forward spot. However, the latter may wind up at center if Chucks Sisco doesn't open.

Then there is the chance that Shelley Swank may fill one of the key jobs. Bellevue uses a zone defense and Swank's shooting ability may be much in demand.

Last night, Hoffman gave plenty of attention to sophs Bernie Weaver and Nobert Shibinsky. They accounted for 27 points against the Wapak reserves and may be pushing some of the regulars when they gain more experience.

The varsity and sophomore squads are scheduled to leave for Bellevue this afternoon at 4.45. The sophs play the Bellevue reserves at 7 p. m. with the varsity game slated for 8:30.

Bellevue opened its campaign by smothering Bowling Green, 37-27, and then edged Lorain, 38-37. Toledo Macomber was the third victim of Coach Kenny Sampson's five. Bellevue copped the state championship in 1944-45, beating the Tygers, 41-34, during the regular season. The teams did not meet last year.

Jim Ball, Dean Todd and Milt Bruckner, the Bellevue front line, all stand six feet or better. Norm Shelley and Dick Glasgow, the guards, are fast and good ball handlers. Shelley is a returned serviceman and scouts say he is the man to watch.

Ball has been the leading pointgetter with Todd, center, hitting the hoop frequently.

Mansfield meets Cleveland Collinwood in the Tyger lair Friday night and travels to Lima to meet South high on Saturday.

The Lucas cager has accounted for 15 fielders and seven charity tosses. Ford has averaged 16 points a game.

Pressing Stake is Forward Hampton, Plymouth, with 35 tallies. Hampton has split the nets for 14 baskets and seven gift shots.

The Lexington at Bellville and Union at Butler contests highlight tonight's play in the county loop. Lexington and Butler are tied for first place with three victories each.

Coach Ed Wysocki's Butler team is favored over Union, which has dropped all its loop games. Coach John Rees' five is expected to find it rough going against Bellville's Bluejays.

In the other contests, Lucas travels to Plymouth and Ontario goes to Shiloh. Bellville and Ontario are tied for third place in the circuit with two wins and one loss apiece.

Unbeaten Ohio Schoolboy 5's Still Plentiful

By JOHN G. DIETRICH

COLUMBUS —(UP)— The high school basketball season was hardly out of its infancy today, but already the sifting process that annually determines the state's outstanding teams had begun to take effect.

Unbeaten teams were still legion, so individual performances and easy victories over normally tough competition had to be the criterion.

There were many familiar names on the list of those teams showing early foot. Middletown's state champions opened their campaign with a narrow 31-30 squeak past Dayton Stivers, while the picturesque class B titlists from Farmer plastered Mark Center, 73-19.

Plenty of competition was promised Middletown in its own southwest district by Hamilton's Big Blue, perennial contender, which won easily over hopeful Xenia Central, 48-26.

In the same district, Troy promised to add to the laurels won by its undefeated football team. The Trojans have allowed just nine baskets in two victories, latest of which was a 48-12 decision over Tipp City.

In the northwest, Bellevue's Redmen harked back to their state title days of 1945 with a 43-31 victory over tough Toledo Macomber that was their third in as many starts.

In the same area Findlay used a tightly-knit defense for weekend triumphs over Galion and Bexley, and Fremont Ross made it two for two with a 34-24 margin over stubborn Port Clinton.

Bluffton, another school with an unbeaten football season, rolled over Lima South, 66-46, for its third in a row as E-GI Neil Schmidt collected 26 points.

Barberton was the pacemaker in the Akron-Canton-Youngstown area with four straight victories, while Akron Garfield and Cuyahoga Falls had two apiece without defeat. Akron Ellet, always strong, won its opener from North Canton a week ago.

East Liverpool was boomed as the hottest combination in eastern Ohio after a 55-34 triumph over highly-regarded Toronto, but Martins Ferry also appeared to have another state title contender after its 68-34 romp past Youngstown Boardman. Virgil (Flea) Oancea rang up 28 of the points.

Dudley Undecided About Pro Career

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. —(INS)— Bill Dudley, the Pittsburgh Steelers' ace halfback, was undecided today about his professional football career.

Dudley, who suffered a knee injury in the Steelers-Eagles game Dec. 1, previously announced that he was quitting the game.

He said he is thinking of entering the University of West Virginia to continue studies and help with the spring football practice and then may seek a coaching job.

Komito's and Beverage Pace City A Basketball

Komito's Clothiers and Richland Beverage continued their winning ways in the City A cage loop at the Senior high gymnasium last night.

The Clothiers breezed past heretofore unbeaten Urschel Insurance, 35-24, while the Beverage men swamped the AVC five, 48-25.

Paced by Forward Don Hardy, the Komito squad took an early lead and maintained it throughout the contest. Jim "Stretch" Regula controlled the backboards the latter part of the game and the Urschel team could not account for many points around the foul circle.

Richland Beverage rapidly expanded its lead over the AVC cagers, taking a 12-4 advantage at the end of the first period. John Rees and Dean Hahn led the Beverage assault, accounting for 21 points.

Pint-sized Kenny Miller led the Veterans' attack, but the taller, more experienced Richlanders proved too steady for the AVC. Miller repeatedly stole the ball and accounted for 10 points.

Holding the Veterans to a 36-20 margin, the Beverage five toyed with the AVCs in the final stanza, swishing 14 points through the nets while the Vets were struggling for five.

The Legion Post 72-Ohio Sports Center cage meeting provided the 250 fans with plenty of fancy basketball in the finale, the former team winning 36-35.

Coach Gene Brandon's Legionnaires took an early, 8-6, lead and then drifted behind, 17-15, at the half way mark.

The Legion went on a scoring spree the third period and racked up 15 markers while the Sports Center splashed nine through the hoop.

Jimmy Toals was the Sports Center's leading scorer. He flipped 13 points into the bucket. Toals accounted for 11 points in the second half.

'The Toe' May Be In Playoff

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Coach Paul Brown of the Cleveland All-America conference football club could breathe a little more easily today with the news that Lou Groza's ankle injury is nothing more than a severe sprain.

The left ankle of "The Toe," league-leading scorer with 85 points, all made from placement, was injured in the third quarter of the Browns' game Sunday when they walloped the Brooklyn Dodgers, 66 to 14.

Carried from the field, the Cleveland tackle was forced to move about on crutches, being unable to stand on the injured member. It was first believed the injury might be a fracture, but X-ray photos proved otherwise.

Groza broke all previous booting records this season as he kicked 13 field goals and connected for 45 extra points. His number of field goals eclipsed by three the long-standing record of Automatic Jack Manders, of the Chicago Bears, and his total conversions surpassed by six the mark set by Bob Snyder, also of the Bears.

In the event Groza is unable to play in the All-American conference playoff tilt a week from Sunday at the Cleveland stadium with the New York Yankees, Tackle Chet Adams will take over the place-kicking assignment.

Drops to Third

Johnny Holota, Cleveland Baron center, dropped to third today in the American Hockey league scoring standings, with 19 goals and 13 assists.

Four Cage Quints Tied for NO Lead

SHELBY — Shelby Merchants, Celeryville, North Fairfield and Willard are tied for the lead in the newly organized Northern Ohio Independent Basketball league composed of eight semi-pro cage teams. All four of the teams have won one game apiece and have no losses.

Coached by William Query, former Shelby high school coach and recreational director of the Parsel AAF Supply depot, the Merchants will play Celeryville tonight on the Shelby high school court.

The Merchants defeated the Plymouth Independents, 54 to 21, to open the league season. Other opening game scores included Celeryville 29, Shiloh 27; North Fairfield 34, New Haven 29, and Willard 40, Greenwich 24.

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY—

Combating Delinquency Finest Job For Sports

By BILL CORUM

NEW YORK—(INS)—Along with other sports writers, we have been invited to a conference on juvenile delinquency in the office of the department in Washington next Monday. Barring something unforeseen, we intend to be there because we believe this is the finest job sports can do in this country, and that no other group is as well equipped to do it.

The invitation from the attorney general explains the purpose of this meeting as briefly and completely as it can be done so it might be a good idea to print it in order to give you an idea of what we are talking about.

This is the letter: "My dear Mr Corum—I would be glad to have you attend a conference of sports writers in the department of justice on the afternoon of Dec 16.

"The Washington sports writers have suggested the formation of a national organization of sports writers and editors in an effort to formulate a program whereby millions of American youngsters can be brought more generally into clean sports and recreational activities.

"The recommendation for this conference is the outgrowth of the national conference on the prevention and control of juvenile delinquency which took place here on Nov. 20-22. I feel confident that such a gathering would result in a decided contribution to the general program adopted by the hundreds of civic organizations and public-spirited persons at the recent conference in their attack on juvenile delinquency.

"With the writers of sports organized into one nation-wide unit, the amount of good that can be accomplished in this field is incalculable.

"I hope you are in a position to accept this invitation and I am looking forward with pleasure to seeing and talking with you. Sincerely yours Tom C Clark."

This idea, basically at any rate, is not entirely new. Out of this effort on the part of the attorney general, there is no reason why much on a broad and nationwide scale shouldn't be accomplished. In any case, no effort such as this can be entirely wasted, if only from the standpoint of giving the matter publicity.

That's the real purpose of this column. To which we'd like to add our own personal conviction that the world of sports has a golden opportunity here, not to say a challenge. And one that it is peculiarly fitted to accept if it will. And if it will work at the job.

Holmes Judge Rules Pinball Machines Gambling Devices

MILLERSBURG — Common Pleas Judge Elmo M Estill has ruled that four pinball machines owned by Allen Cook, of Dover, which were seized in a raid in Holmes county last July, are gambling devices

The ruling was issued in a replevin case by Cook against Wayne D. Starner, Holmes county sheriff. Cook had sought to regain possession of the machines, which he asserted were not gambling devices.

The July raid, which netted a total of six pinball machines, 29 punch boards and four "fishbowls," was commended by Judge Estill

He stated in his ruling that "pinball machines are gambling devices when they contain devices not under the operator's control which may give additional games or things of value upon attaining a certain total score, notwithstanding that skill may be a factor in the operators' success"

'Fall Within Type'.

"It therefore follows that these machines fall within the type of devices which constitute gambling devices under the definition of such devices as pronounced by the Supreme Court of Ohio"

The opinion said that if no appeal be taken to the court's finding and if the machines are not required as evidence in any other proceeding by the state an order will be made for their destruction by the defendant as sheriff of Holmes County

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

COLD, HUNGRY AND FORLORN

Jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun was smiling down on a white world and the white world was smiling up at him, smiles that flashed and sparkled and dazzled. Snow covered the earth, the trees, the bushes, the old stone-wall, the buildings, everything. And the snow was covered with a shimmering, glittering crust.

Mother Brown, looking out a window, drew a long breath. "It is beautiful, too beautiful for words," said she.

Now beauty is not a thing in itself but as seen through the eyes looking at it. Of two people looking at the same thing one may see beauty and the other see none at all. Looking out from the entrance to his home in a hollow tree in the Green Forest Happy Jack Squirrel saw nothing beautiful in his surroundings of glistening, sparkling white. Instead of being too beautiful for words it was to him too dreadful for words. Yes, sir, it was so. Mother Brown was warm and comfortable, with plenty to eat and no worries. Happy Jack was cold, uncomfortable, hungry, with nothing to eat and worried, not knowing where he could find anything to eat. So where one saw beauty the other saw dreadfulness.

Until now Happy Jack had been warm and comfortable in his snug home in the hollow tree. There had been colder weather than this, but he had not been cold inside or outside that snug home. When he had found it too cold for comfort outside he had curled up in perfect comfort inside. Now he shivered with cold whether inside or outside. Yet that house was just the same as it had been all along. It was just as snug as ever. It was just as dry. Do you know why Happy Jack no longer found warmth and comfort there? Do you know why, with as thick a fur coat as ever, he shivered whether he was in or out of that snug home? It was because of an empty stomach. Yes, sir, that was it. That was why he shivered with cold wherever he was.

"It is bad enough to be hungry and not be able to get a bite to eat, but is is worse to be both hungry and cold," said Happy Jack, talking to himself. "Yes, sir, it is a lot worse. I don't know why I am so cold. My fur coat is as thick as ever. It has kept me plenty warm in the past, so why doesn't it now." He shivered.

Being just a Squirrel of course Happy Jack doesn't know some of the important things that boys and girls know. He doesn't know that warm body comes from good food and plenty of it. Food in the stomach is wonderfully transformed into the things the body needs and one of these is heat just as coal burning in the furnace makes heat. Warm clothes do not make heat. They are not really warm in themselves. They simply keep the heat made by food from escaping from the body and the cold from working through the other way. The thicker a fur coat the better it keeps the heat in, but if there is no body warmth to be kept in it doesn't matter if the coat be thick or thin.

So Happy Jack sat in his doorway, cold, hungry and forlorn. He had been up at daylight and out trying to find something to eat but without success. He simply couldn't dig through the icy crust, and buried beneath it were all the nuts and acorns he had worked so hard to gather in the fall. He felt more than just discouraged; he felt hopeless. That is a dreadful feeling. It didn't make him feel any better to hear his small cousin, chattered the Red Squirrel, noisily telling any who might listen what a good breakfast he had had and how good he felt. He was neither hungry and cold for he had his food stores in two or three places where snow and icy crust could not close the entrance

"He is selfish," thought Happy Jack. "He won't share so much as an acorn with me." He was quite right about that. Those two cousins do not get along well together, you know.

It was afternoon when Mother Brown, looking out the window again saw Happy Jack looking up at the window shelf which was that shelf. A few seeds had fallen other good things for the birds.

The next stry: A Changed World.

Boy Dies After Christmas Party

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. —(AP)— Four-year-old Frankie Kajunski's predated Christmas tricycle was packed away today to gather dust until his one-year-old brother, Paul, can ride it. Frankie died yesterday of lymphatic leukemia —just as doctors had predicted he would.

Acting on the word of the physicians, his parents arranged Frankie's Yuletide observance eight days ago. The tricycle was one of many presents that had been placed under the youngster's tinseled tree.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennett Cerf

Walter Marquess accompanied Ring Lardner to an annual Homecoming game in the days when Illinois boasted the galloping Red Grange and a crack student battery of artillery.

Just before game time, the first salute gun was fired as Governor Small entered his box. Lardner jumped from his seat, and demanded, "What was that?" "For the governor," explained Marquess. Just then the second gun blasted away. "My God," cried Lardner. "They missed him."

Mrs. Taylor thought the doctor was overcharging for seeing her son through a siege of the measles. "Don't forget," the doctor reminded her, "that I visited your son eleven times." "But don't you forget," she countered, "that he infected the whole school."

Rope Find Foils Second Jail Break

COLUMBUS — (INS) — The second attempted "break" within a month by federal prisoners held in the Columbus city jail was foiled today as a cell block guard discovered a rope, made of strips torn from a mattress cover, hidden in a cell.

Patrolman Blueford Malone reported he discovered the rope under the mattress of John H. Mills, of Pittsburgh, a ringleader in the November 13 escape attempt. Mills is awaiting trial on Dyer act (interstate auto theft) charges.

HAVING a complet blank in the suit bid by your partner is not necessarily a reason for taking out his later call of a No Trump game into a rebiddable minor suit. If you have any appreciable high card strength in the suit or suits not bid by your side—and you know from your partner's No Trump try that he has something in it or them—you can forget the void suit. There probably will be enough tricks in your own suit and the unbid places to produce a game. The chance is likely to be better seeking nine tricks that way than hoping for the 11 needed in a minor suit.

	♠ K 9 8 6 5 ♥ Q 8 5 4 ♦ 5 2 ♣ J 3
♠ 7 4 2 ♥ K 7 3 2 ♦ 4 3 ♣ 10 6 5 2	N W E S	♠ A Q J 10 3 ♥ 10 9 ♦ K J 6 ♣ K 8 7
	♠ None ♥ A J 6 ♦ A Q 10 9 8 7 ♣ A Q 9 4

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	3 NT	Pass
4 ♦

North passed that part score bid, feeling properly that he had already done a good deal of talking with one king, one queen and one jack. South thought his own rebid of his higher-ranking suit at such a high level should have been treated by North as an absolute force, and was a bit disgruntled over not being in 5-Diamonds. But later he was glad of it, as a trump lead was followed by his losing two tricks in clubs and one in hearts.

After the last card was played and North knew what 13 cards South had held, he decided it was his turn to criticise. He based his censure on South's having such strength in the only unbid suit of hearts, saying South should have left the 3-No Trumps in. No matter what East led against that, game would have been as easy as rolling off a log, with a likelihood of one extra trick and possibility of two, depending on the defense and the way North played.

Scientist Predicts Atomic Energy Use

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—(UP)—Former Oak Ridge atomic bomb scientist Milton Burton predicted here last night that an entire city would be operated on atomic power within 10 years.

Burton, Notre Dame professor and former head of the radiation chemistry section of the Oak Ridge project, told the Nashville section of the American Chemical society that the first atomic energy power plant was expected to be in operation in two years.

He said that such a municipal atomic energy plant might also be used to purify the city water supply and sterilize city waste.

Burton predicted that radiations of atomic piles would be used in new chemical processes, bringing about new materials and more effective chemical utilization of some natural resources.

MOTORIST DUMPS VICTIM IN STREET

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Fatally injured when hit by two hit-skip automobiles, Martin Vana, 70, was dumped into the street today, one quarter mile away from the accident scene by the driver of the second car who was thought to be taking him to a hospital.

The accident, which Vana's wife, Mary, 71, saw from the window of their home, occurred as Vana crossed the street to take a street car.

"The first car was speeding," Mrs. Vana said. "I saw Martin thrown into the air, his lunch flying out of his hand. Then the second car ran over him and stopped. The first one went on."

TROOPS ATTACK IRAN PROVINCE

TEHRAN — (U.P.) — Premier Ahmed Ghavam's troops entered Azerbaijan behind aerial and artillery support today in an effort to reestablish the central Iranian government's authority over the province.

The chief of the Iranian general staff announced that government troops attacked across the frontier at 9 p. m. yesterday toward Mianeh, first important town in the province. Mianeh lies about 30 miles north of the frontier.

Government reports said the attack was opened in four sections along the mountainous frontier. The main column was aimed along the Tehran-Tabriz road, which runs through a long gorge toward Mianeh.

The staff chief announced that Takab and 12 other Azerbaijan frontier townships along the Ghaflankuh mountains had been captured.

Radio Tabriz, voice of the semi-autonomous Azerbaijan regime headed by Jaafar Pishevari, described the government attack as a major offensive with the use of tanks and heavy artillery. It said government planes were bombing Mehabad in southwestern Azerbaijan and other defense points.

Hope of Saving 7 Miners Fades

WHITEHAVEN, Eng. — (U.P.) — Hope was abandoned today for seven miners in the Lowca coal pit where 15 men were trapped yesterday by an explosion.

Eight bodies had been recovered. Rescue squads were tunneling through a wall of fallen coal and rock which sealed off the missing men. Nine rescue crews worked in shifts. Their efforts were impeded by seepage from the sea, under which some arms of the mine extend, and by gas.

Mrs. Light claims she was permanently injured when a bus operated by the defendant crashed into an auto in which she was riding on State Route 39 between Mansfield and Shelby.

Her counsel is the law firm of Marriott and Freehafer while Atty. Robert L. Ross represents the bus company. Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch and a 12-member jury are hearing the case.

Egyptian Premier Forms Government

CAIRO— (U.P.) —Mahmoud Norkashy Pasha, newly-appointed Egyptian premier, formed a new government today and informed King Garouk it would "spare no effort" in seeking the evacuation of British troops and unity of the Nile valley under the Egyptian crown.

Nokrashy's cabinet will replace that of Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha, who submitted his resignation because of ill health. Sidky's government had been criticized severely by opposition parties for alleged pro-British leanings in negotiating a new Anglo-Egyptian treaty.

Splendid Cough Relief, Mixed In Your Kitchen

No Trouble. No Cooking. Saves Big Dollars.

Yes, ma'am, right in your own kitchen, you can easily mix a cough medicine that is a wonder for quick results, and gives you about four times as much for your money. And it's no trouble—a child could do it

You'll need a syrup. Make it by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Now get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and fill up with your syrup. There you have a full pint of remarkable medicine for coughs due to colds. It lasts a family a long time. Tastes fine—children love it.

And does it do the work! You'll say it's hard to beat, for real relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Eases the soreness, and lets you rest at night.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for quick action on throat and bronchial irritations. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded. —Adv.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

PAGE SIX MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1946

"Shop early" means early in the week and early in the day—whenever possible.

Reappraisal of residential property at prices now being asked should bring a nice increase in tax receipts.

It was Shakespeare who put it thus: "Man, proud man, dressed in a little brief authority, plays such fantastic tricks before high heaven as make the angels weep"—which goes to show that the trait isn't entirely new.

Violence Supplants 'Peaceful Picketing'

SUCH an exhibition of lawlessness as that which occurred in Milwaukee yesterday, while not uncommon to picketing procedure at a strike-bound plant, goes further in emphasizing the need for legislation that will give equal assurance of the "right to work" as well as the "right to strike."

This is a case in which aggressive union pickets denied the right of non-strikers to work in the Allis-Chalmers farm equipment plant, which has been tied up 225 days by a strike.

Yesterday's flare of violence came when hundreds of policemen and deputies attempted to assure the safe entrance and exit of non-strikers at the plant. CIO pickets and sympathizers battled officers of the law, overturned automobiles and set fire to two cars. Even after they had been quelled by officers it is reported that pickets circled the plant, threw stones and broke scores of windows.

However strongly the right of "peaceful picketing" may be defended it cannot be doubted that such procedure almost invariably carries the threat of violence in the event of an effort to pass the picket line—seizure of authority sometimes going even so far as to prevent office workers and maintenance personnel from entering strike-bound premises . . . of which there was a local example in the not distant past.

Somehow, some way, it must be accomplished that the right to work is recognized as having equal force with the right NOT to work, and those who desire to work should be freed from the menace of either physical or mental torture from those who seek to prevent them from doing so—either by personal violence or insult.

More Cities Adopt Manager Plan

HOWEVER lethargic Mansfield as may be on the subject, it seems advisable that they should keep tab on the progress of the city manager form of municipal government elsewhere in the country—so that when the time comes for serious consideration here they will not regard it as an entirely new and untried idea.

According to Alfred Willoughby, executive secretary of the National Municipal League, 7 cities have made a change to the city manager plan this year.

At the beginning of 1946 the Municipal Yearbook listed 609 cities governed by city managers, which brings the number now well toward 700. Cincinnati is the largest. Other large cities include Rochester, Houston, Miami, Toledo, Dayton, Dallas, Kansas City, Grand Rapids, Oklahoma City and Oakland. Only six states have no city manager cities, these being Idaho, Indiana, Louisiana, Mississippi, Rhode Island and Washington.

The plan has grown through its simplicity and appearance of merit. An elected council appropriates funds and decides policies. The manager whom it names makes appointments and runs the city's business. He devotes his whole time to the job, leaving social duties to the presiding officer of the council, who may have the title of mayor.

City government was once called by the English observer, Lord Bryce, "the dark spot in American government." That distinction now more properly belongs to counties.

Airlines To Emphasize Safety

THE ELEMENT of comparative safety in air travel is likely to be more strongly stressed during the next year than ever before, because of a public impression that this means of transportation is more dangerous than land or sea travel.

Latest information on this subject is to the effect that, through November 15, domestic airlines in the United States had flown 82,000,000 passenger-miles per passenger fatality, while last year's record was 46,000,000 passenger-miles per passenger fatality.

This year has been one of substantial increase in airline service and experimentation. It may be hoped that safety will continue to be the most highly regarded factor in the further development of air transportation, with such items as speed, luxury and maintenance of schedules considered of secondary importance.

Swedes Like Underground Factories

WARTIME conditions in vulnerable Sweden caused many industries to go underground, and, far from disliking this environment, both owners and workmen appear to favor its continuance.

Factories carved from solid rock never need painting or other exterior work, and require no heating systems. They are made attractive by bright painted interiors and by simulated windows which soothe workers with claustrophobic tendencies. Their construction is more expensive, but ease of upkeep makes the overall cost lower.

In spite of all these advantages, factories in a country untouched by bombing will no doubt continue to be built above ground, where the advantages of fresh air and natural light outweigh those of security and cheapness of upkeep.

Music Reduces 'Error Curve'

A BANK in Danville, Va., is to have "background music" during banking hours. Bach and Beethoven melodies, Mozart sonatas, with Christmas carols during the holidays will be wafted about the banking rooms from loud speakers attached to a record player in the basement.

While the customers probably will enjoy the soft harmonies, bank officials say the installation was decided upon because similar experiments in other institutions proved that music gave the bank staff a lift in morale and reduced the "error curve" in their accounting.

As the holiday traffic jams increase, people with cars in good working order are sometimes just as well pleased that new cars are not being built any faster than they are.

One patron of higher-bracket eating places says his only objection to paying 10 cents for a 5-cent cup of coffee is that it tastes like two cents.

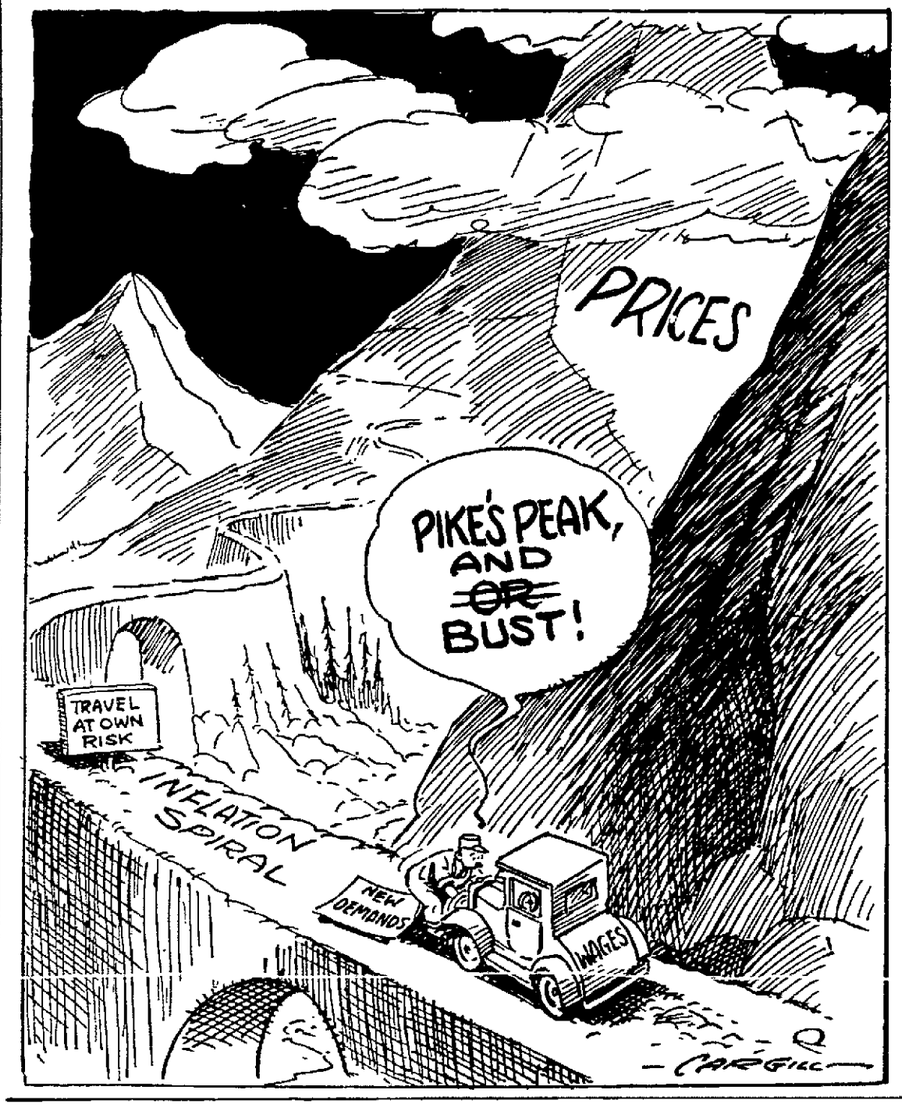
SLIGHT CHANGE IN THE SLOGAN



Moderation In Tax Reduction and Labor Policies Advised By NAM

By RAYMOND MOLEY

THE National Association of Manufacturers, at its annual meeting, has pursued a moderate course, both in its labor policies and in its fiscal recommendations to congress.

It has been the considered conclusion of the NAM that the most pressing need in tax revision is not a general reduction in the corporate tax structure.

This may seem a strange conclusion from a group the members of which pay a large proportion of corporation taxes. But the facts justify this position.

The corporation tax is essentially an excise tax. It is analogous to a sales tax, since it is in large part passed on to the consumer.

The immediate demand of the NAM is a balanced budget, with appropriate provision for debt retirement. It suggests debt retirement at a rate of $2,500,000,000 a year. This would be an average. More should be paid in a good year and, presumably, less in a poor year.

The normal budget should "eventually" be $20,000,000,000, including debt retirement charges. But it is recognized that unsettled international conditions may make this unattainable in the fiscal year beginning next July.

Individual income taxes should be reduced by 20 per cent, effective January 1, 1947, says the NAM. This is what some Republican congressmen are saying. But as this column has pointed out repeatedly this cut should not be undertaken until a careful appraisal of business conditions in the next year has been made.

It will be better to wait until the future is clearer and until we see what expenditures can safely be eliminated.

The NAM proposals with reference to corporate taxes are much more sound. Effective June 1, 1948, the NAM suggests a cut of 6 per cent in the corporation income tax. It also suggests the elimination of double taxation of corporation incomes, the exemption of intercorporate dividends from taxation, the repeal of the 2 per cent penalty tax on consolidation returns and the substitution of a six-year carry forward of net business losses for two-year carry-backs and carry-forward.

The NAM, in response to a widespread and, it would seem, reasonable demand, calls for a taxation of the earnings of cooperatives. It says: "In the case of cooperatives, no justification is found for taxing at the source patronage refunds paid to customers. Amounts available for, but not distributed to, patrons as patronage dividends, should be taxed as earnings."

The whole budget picture, incidentally, is definitely brighter since Molotov's conciliatory speech on disarmament.

Russia, as well as every other country, is eager to escape the crushing burden of armament. There can be no greater Christmas gift to the world than continued progress on the road to reasonable armaments.

Timely Editorial

Timely Suggestion.

No New Year's resolution could be received more gratefully by those many Americans who cherish the memory of Franklin D Roosevelt and believe in his political and economic faith than would one by Elliott Roosevelt that he will retire to the silence and invisibility of private life for a spell. Will he not make such a resolution?

The young man seems to have one genius—that of getting into jams. He is the meat upon which tabloid journalism, smoking room banter and the forces of reaction feed. Although his views, his writings and his promulgations are of little or no importance, they are unhappily vulnerable to criticism because of his family name—Atlanta Journal.

Daily Bible Thought

Farmer's Diary: "Give Youngsters Tools."

I THINK there are times when active boys are cheated because so many Christmas toys are factory-made. I guess there are girls that lose part of their pleasure because doll clothes are completely sewed or hair-dos finished to the last wee ribbon. It is astonishing how much pleasure children get from the things they make with their own hands.

When I was a small boy our village store two miles away had very few toys for sale. But all about the bottom lands, native timber grew. Maple, hickory, elm, bass, oak and poplar. Saw mills moved in and cut the soft woods into inch boards. Great stacks were piled to season and then were hauled to planing mills to be converted into inside finishing.

My father often took me to Burkett's mill, near Curry station. Here I watched the deep-voiced planer throw its shower of chips and dust clear to the rafters. These rained down upon the workmen's denim caps, wamus and overalls. Their perspiring faces were streaked with grime.

And here is where I could pick up finished soft light bits of discarded wood from the general pile and happily take it home. In a little armful I could imagine a small wheelbarrow, nailed together with large pins, the wheel a tall narrow spool that had held silken yarn.

Next came a larger wagon, made of rougher seasoned oak, wheels cut nearly round by sawing successive corners from a square. All were modeled after the running gears of the old-time linchpin wagon. It served us well to haul the firewood up to the woodbox on the porch, to carry the fresh sweet corn from the field for drying. Then I drew it high up level with the barn bridge, got into the low bed, took the wobbly tongue in hand, and coasted down hill with thrilling speed through the old yard gate. It was my first conveyance, crude and noisy, and it was the apple of my eye.

I pulled it up and down the dusty road, and when I tired of play stopped beneath the shade of a thrifty seedling peach tree, sat upon the rough bed with outstretched legs, leaned against the old peach trunk and went to sleep.

Because I believe boys should have access to such tools as they can use with greatest interest, my own tools are sometimes missing when I need them for emergency repairs. By continuous repetition it may be possible to teach a boy —or four boys—to always put away the tools when they have used them. But little workshops and basement benches where dreamers and tools may meet, have started great things and helped to train great men. Pasteur, Ben Franklin, Edison, Fulton, Kettering . . . such dreamers have added years to the average life of man, given comfort and convenience in every household, transported men and goods to every corner of the globe.

Missouri Cronies Now Surround Harry Truman, Make Decisions

By DREW PEARSON

WAHINGTON — Unknown to the general public, a new system of government has developed inside the White House. By those who have seen it work, it is nicknamed "government by crony."

This means that President Truman almost never makes a decision any more without benefit of cronies. The Missouri boys come in and make it for him.

They are almost afraid to let him out of their sight for fear he will make an important move. And when a White House visitor is too tough, they even escort him into the inner sanctum and dominate the conversation to make sure that Mr. Truman decides things their way.

That was what happened when Housing Administrator Wilson Wyatt, former mayor of Louisville, Ky., called for a showdown on homes for veterans. As he walked into the president's office, Clark Clifford of St. Louis was virtually tugging at his right arm, while War Reconverter John Steelman of Arkansas was on the left. Both did so much talking that Wyatt had little chance to state his case.

Steelman began by outlining the Truman position that housing must be treated within the scope of a general decontrol program. Truman said he agreed with this view, and asked Wyatt if he would stay on with limited powers. Wyatt, who once had been urged and implored by Truman to sacrifice a new law practice in order to do an all-out job, declined.

"Mr. President," he said, "I still believe there's an emergency in veterans housing and it can't be met by ordinary measures. We've got to continue controlling raw materials. We've got to use government funds to back up FHA mortgages and we've got to loan money for the prefabricated manufacture of homes on a wartime basis.

"If we do that, I'll stay. If we don't, I can't," concluded Wyatt.

Truman, who a year ago had instructed Wyatt to tackle the housing crisis with the same vigor that the government prosecuted the war, replied that he couldn't agree with Wyatt's views. Wyatt then announced his resignation and left the room.

Housing Report Suppressed.

Another chapter in the new White House system of government by crony occurred when Truman's former naval aide, Clark Clifford, now the fair-haired boy of the administration, drafted a White House announcement which made the amazing and entirely false statement that Wyatt wanted to be relieved because he had finished his job.

"But I haven't finished my job," protested Wyatt, "and I'll stay on the job if I'm permitted to operate an all-out emergency program."

After further argument, Wyatt flatly refused to tolerate the statement and it was taken out of Truman's letter. For more than an hour, Clifford and Wyatt continued to work on a statement which would "protect the president."

The idea was not to protect homeless veterans, but the man who had failed to stand up, in the final pinch, to help them.

Finally, Wyatt asked Clifford if the president was going to make public his suppressed report on housing, but Clifford said no. Wyatt insisted that the public had a right to see it.

"We won't release it," replied the young man who now dominates the White House. "It was a personal letter to the president."

And that ended that.

Note—In the end, another St. Louisan, diplomatic Charley Ross, had to be called in to help write the fact-saving Truman statement accepting Wyatt's resignation.

Mail Bag.

Arthur F. Peterson, Framingham Center, Mass.: Thanks for your letter stating that John L. Lewis had a right to break his contract because the government broke its pledge on the cost of living. You forget, however, that Mr. Lewis played an important part in increasing that living cost. He was one who led in shouting for the end of price-wage stabilization, supported by William Green of the AFL, plus almost every Republican member of congress. We are now reaping the harvest.

History will probably show that the beginning of the probable depression of 1948 actually started in the summer of 1946 when the above-named alliance threw wage-price stabilization overboard. Lewis, of course, wanted to kill wage stabilization because he knew that his powerful union could go out and get wage increases that teachers, white-collar workers, government employes, farm labor, GI's trying to get through college on fixed allotments, and widows living on insurance could not get.

The jump in prices since the real end of OPA last June is exactly like the fictitious jump in prosperity when Andy Mellon reduced upper-bracket taxes after World War I and let the little fellow shift for himself. It is significant that the stock market began to soften up immediately after the end of OPA. The wise guys in Wall Street knew something was wrong, that the tremendous profits of industry were too good to last, that real wages (based on buying power) were slumping while prices were zooming up.

Sound prosperity comes when buying power is up and prices are within range. Unfortunately, John L. Lewis' just-ended strike only stagnates industry, cuts down production, makes goods more scarce, shoots prices higher, and makes inflation and subsequent depression all the more certain.

Extreme "Rightists" Oppose "Moderates."

WASHINGTON—The extreme right in this country is operating now more actively and more openly than ever. It was emboldened by the recent election and the rout of labor and left-wing elements. It is feeling its oats.

It finds a ready opening in labor's lines through John L. Lewis and his strike against the government which stirred up fierce resentment among the public. The next theater of action of this right wing is the forthcoming 80th congress.

This element, which is powerful because it is so well entrenched financially, showed its teeth at the annual convention of the National Ass'n. of Manufacturers in New York.

It is well to point this out and emphasize it, so that the public properly can analyze and assess future movements in this battle.

There was quite a controversy behind the scenes in the closed meeting of the NAM board of directors over the organization's pronouncement on labor policy and prospective labor legislation.

While those described as "the moderates" won out eventually—and "moderates" is a term of contrast—the significant thing was the length to which a minority representing powerful interests wanted to go.

This is best set forth in the report of the meeting by Russell Porter of the New York Times who said:

"A minority group centered on powerful automobile and steel interests that carried a strong fight in the board of directors and the resolutions committee, but did not carry the struggle to the convention floor, failed in its effort to put the NAM on record in favor of a forthright anti-union campaign, with a specific demand for repeal of the Wagner Act."

Mr. Porter the day before said that B. E. Hutchinson, chairman of the finance committee of the Chrysler Corporation, who is an NAM vice president, was reported to be the active leader of the minority group which wanted outright repeal of the Wagner Act and an anti-union campaign.

This report was most revealing. Hitherto industrialists always have said publicly that the Wagner Act guaranteeing collective bargaining—sometimes called labor's magna carta—must be retained, though they advocated various revisions and modifications.

Apparently behind the closed doors some of the gentlemen really spoke from the heart. Also, big industrialists before have been careful to deny publicly that they were engaged in any anti-union campaign, but only wanted changes in the law to protect the rights of employers and to require labor to keep its contracts, among other revisions.

While it was a numerical minority on the board, the group identity of this minority was significant.

Automobiles and steel are together a most potent segment of American industry and have intricate inter-relation among themselves with many others and with big finance.

It is certain there is going to be more labor legislation in the new congress. The demand is coming from the public. How drastic and punitive it is will depend upon whether the Republican party leadership follows the extremists represented in the NAM minority, or whether it takes a more moderate course. Experienced leaders are recommending moderation.

Communist Activities In Iceland Disturbing.

WASHINGTON — We hear a lot about Communist infiltration in such remote parts of the world as Iran and Outer Mongolia. But right at our front door is a curious example that runs the gamut of the Moscow technique from A to Izzard.

The country is Iceland which, in this air age, is on our doorstep. Having lived for centuries isolated from the world, the bitter winds of the left-right controversy, Iceland today is a miniature France, pulled in several different directions at the same time.

This is of deep concern to the United States if only because Iceland is a vital stepping-stone on the air route to Europe.

Recently, skilled U. S. negotiators signed a treaty with Iceland which gives this country the right to use Meeks airfield for the servicing of government planes so long as we have obligations that compel us to keep occupation troops in Germany. In any event, the terms of the treaty cannot be altered for six and a half years.

The Communists in Iceland—about 20 percent of the total vote—did everything they could to block this agreement. The U. S. A. was assailed as imperialistic and militaristic. Both Britain and America were denounced by Communist leaders and in the Communist press, sometimes in language unprintable in this country.

The Communists were playing, of course, on the fact that the United States was compelled during the war to build big air bases in Iceland, one of them being Meeks field. We kept fairly sizable numbers of troops stationed there during the war, since Iceland was obviously a key spot for a Nazi parachute invasion. These bases, including Meeks, have now all been turned back to the Icelandic government.

Moscow prepared the way for the Communist attack by handing the Icelandic treasury a gift of about $10,000,000. That is no small item in the budget of a country with a population of 135,000. It was done this way:

Last spring, not long before the general election, the Soviets bought a large share of Iceland's chief export—frozen fish. They paid just under $400 a ton for it, which compared with the world price of under $300. At the same time, they sold Iceland coal and lumber below the world price.

As a result of this deal, the Icelanders have a balance in the United States of $10,000,000. That is very useful, particularly in light of the serious inflation which has sent prices to nearly five times the level at which they were before the war.

The coal that goes to Iceland comes from Silesia in Poland. According to an Icelander recently returned from Scandinavia, the lumber appears to have been cut in Finland and may be part of the Finnish reparation payments to the Soviet Union.

This is particularly interesting in view of the acute housing and lumber shortage in Moscow and other Russian cities.

After the agreement with the U. S. was signed, the Communists, who control the Icelandic federation of labor, staged a 24-hour general strike in the capital, Reykjavik. The two Communist members of the coalition government resigned, although they remained in office provisionally and the government is carrying on as before.

Iceland's long dark nights resound with angry Communist speeches—no concessions of any kind to any foreign power. The U. S. S. R. has sent six "assistant trade commissioners" to Iceland to make sure the trade agreement is being carried out properly. Sturdy little Iceland may have been isolated once but it is isolated no more.

How It Started

"Pandemonium."

What comes to mind when one thinks of pandemonium? It could be the confusion of the bargain counter or the butcher's, the uproar at a prize fight. It certainly would not be John Milton's "Paradise Lost." But that is how and where it started!

"Pandemonium" is a combination of two Greek words meaning "all demon." Its earliest appearance in literature is in John Milton's poem, "Paradise Lost," published in 1667. "Pandemonium" was the name invented by John Milton to designate the secret hall or council chambers in which the arch-devil and his cohort of demons or evil spirits held their conclaves. The first allusion is near the end of Book 1 of "Paradise Lost."

IMPORTANT!

For your added health protection, every quart of Isaly's Milk has double sanitary sealing. First, a tight but easily removed cap in the top of the bottle which may be used as a cover when the bottle is not in use, and second a fresh, cellophane hood which fits snugly down over the top of the bottle and keeps the pouring rim healthfully clean. Look for the crisp, golden cellophane hood on every quart of Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk.

No Sherlock Needed

It doesn't take a Sherlock Holmes to discover the delicious flavor of Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk. Thousands of babies—and grown-ups, too—have found that Homogenized Milk has a richer, creamier taste than ordinary milk, a taste that makes Homogenized Milk more appetizing, more enjoyable.

This improved taste is the result of Homogenization, a process which distributes the cream evenly through the milk. Every drop—right down to the bottom of the bottle—is equally delicious and nourishing. Homogenized Milk improves cooking and baking, won't form a "skin" at the surface when heated and is quickly and easily digested. Important also to the health of babies and growing youngsters are the 400 Vitamin D units in every quart of Isaly's.

Try Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk today and discover its rich, creamy flavor. Available at your grocery, from your neighborhood Isaly milkman, at all Isaly Dairy Stores. For home delivery service, telephone 4217-6.

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

Step Into the Past—Can you realize that Clara Bow, the bare-kneed, cyclone-haired "It" girl of the talkless pictures, is 41 years old now? Is your memory good enough to recall the days when Ina Claire and John Gilbert were making a million dollars a year? When Gary Cooper and Lupe Velez were an ever-lovin', ever-fightin' tamale-eatin' romance? When Ann Harding was taking bows for her performance in "The Trial of Mary Dugan?" Were you interested when Lili Damita was engaged —well, "engaged"—to the Kaiser's grandson, Louis Ferdinand?

If you're under 30, you probably weren't. Because those celluloid phenomena occurred in the hip-flask twenties when the reviews of motion pictures were tagged "silent," "talkie," "dialogue" and "song and dialogue," and such experts as Charles Chaplin and Al Jolson were holding debates on the subject of: "Will talking pictures survive?"

* * *

Let me give you a picture of what was going on back in those fascinating days that I don't remember, either.

Norma Shearer, who used to give out interviews vowing she would give up acting if she married—"and devote all my time to mothering my husband"—married Irving Thalberg and decided she would keep on making pictures and mother him on the side . . . Kay Francis, in Hollywood for the first time, took a look at the befurred, befeathered and beruffled screen ladies and gasped: "I'm terrified. I don't know how anyone can dress well, act well, write well or do anything well after being here awhile . . . Ricardo Cortez was sailing for Europe wtih his wife, Alma Rubens, and Lina Basquette, widow of Sam Warner, signed to play opposite Richard Barthelmess in "The Noose" . . . Francis X. Bushman visited Japan and came home to report that the Japanese were lamenting the influence of Hollywood movies on the younger generation, which was learning to wear silk stockings and high-heeled shoes, play slapstick comedy, and flirt in the American manner.

* * *

Stories like this were swallowed whole, presumably, by the magazine editors:

"'My Best Girl,' written by Kathleen Norris especially for Mary Pickford, is a romance of a little clerk in a five and ten cent store—as you probably know by now.

"One day, after the picture was all finished, Mrs. Norris dropped over to the studio to get her check for the story, which amounted to $25,000 dollars. When the distinguished novelist presented herself at Mary's bungalow, America's Sweetheart looked very surprised. She told Mrs. Norris the check was not there. It was Mrs. Norris' turn to look surprised. 'It's outside,' said Mary and led her over to a window.

"Backed up against the bungalow was a truck loaded with bags of nickels and dimes amounting to $25,000 That was Mary's way of paying for a five and ten cent story. Everybody had a good laugh—except possibly the bank employes who had to unload the truck."

* * *

Al Jolson, full of enthusiasm for the new-found talking picture and loaded with Warner Brothers' stock, couldn't wait to reply when Charles Chaplin made slighting remarks about the vocal screen.

"If Charlie wants to keep what he calls 'the great silence' let him go lock himself in a room—or something," said Al. "But, shucks! I was at a party the other night and from 8:30 until 5 a. m., Charlie never stopped talking and singing all the time . . . What

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, December 11

Under the spur of greatly accelerated energies and faculties there should be swift and decisive moves made in the direction of putting over desired goals and ambitious objectives. An entirely constructive program, albeit involving sudden revision of plans, with changes, travel, new arrangements or agreements may prove of far-reaching and thrilling denouement. A brilliant idea, new ways and means, a quick grasp of opportunities, may cap the climax to a very progressive program. Youthful things flourish.

Those whose birthday it is are promised a year of spectacular progress, with new and cherished programs and plans, accelerated to surprising growth through the spur of fresh techniques or brilliant use of novelty and innovation, reaching new high spots. This will come through highly stimulated faculties, energies and nervous tension, forcing into new grooves with more progressive associates, probably on the side of youth and daring. Travel, revised plans, or contracts, changed environ, writings, speeches, all contribute to a constructive and keenly desired climax. Work quickly and bravely.

A child born on this day should be extremely versatile and clever, with brilliant ideas and talents, sure to attain place and prestige in any channel it may direct its fine endowments and energies.

The U. S. production of lithium increased sevenfold during the war.
